A stunning 19th century Italian, circa 1840, crouch mahogany, charm wood and fruitwood rectangular center table. The table is raised on "S" scrolled feet joined by an "x" stretcher decorated by hand painted floral inlays and borders. Above is the urn shaped pedestal with inlayed flower filled urns adorning each side. The apron with two drawers on one side and two faux façade drawers on the other, all with ormolu pulls and reeded trim borders ornate with floral garland inlays. The impressive top with cut corners displays a beautiful central scalloped acanthus leaf bordered medallion of mother and child sitting at the water's edge amidst birds and foliage all within a larger frame of similar design with intertwined floral garlands. All original patina.
