A French mid 19th century Louis XVI st. one door mahogany cabinet. The rectangular white Carrara marble top has rounded front corners and is fitted within a gadroon shaped ormolu top border. With an intricate lattice design inlaid with tulipwood and boxwood. The front has an upper and lower inlaid frieze with a central door flanked by reeded fluted columns with Corinthian ormolu capitals. The door includes several inlaid frames which border finely detailed scrolled acanthus leaves and a central urn of prosperity. The cabinet is raised by four topie shaped supports. All original hardware.
