A stunning and extremely unique Continental 19th century Louis XIV st. Kingwood, exotic wood and ormolu center/side table. The rectangular table is raised by exceptional spiral fluted ormolu feet below striking and most impressive scrolled supports with intricately detailed inlaid scrolled foliate designs with square mottled ormolu top and bottom caps. Each support is connected by a beautiful scalloped stretcher also decorated with remarkable scrolled foliate inlaid designs with a circular central reserve with charming blooming flowers tied with ribbons. Above each are cut corners flanking the arbalest shaped frieze with a superb deep curved design and lovely foliate designs. Above is the most decorative top displaying a unique and most decorative curved border with a fine foliate ormolu border centering the outstanding masterfully executed inlaid scrolled foliate designs in exotic wood with lovely Rinceaux patterns set on a Kingwood background.
