A very decorative and finely detailed French 19th century Empire st. patinated bronze of the Vendôme column. The Vendôme column is raised by a square mottled base above a small support. All original warm and rich patina throughout.

The Vendôme column is located in the center of Place Vendôme in Paris. It was erected by Napoleon I to commemorate the Battle of Austerlitz. It was torn down on May 16th 1871, by decree of the Paris Commune, but subsequently re-erected and remains a prominent feature on the square today.
