A beautiful and high quality French 19th century Louis XVI st. Belle Époque period ormolu and Fleur de Pêcher marble statue signed E. Delabrierre. The most charming small scale statue is raised by its original oblong shaped Fleur de Pêcher marble base. Above is a finely detailed dog standing on a wonderfully executed ground designed base. The dog is leaning down seemingly following a scent and is wearing a collar around his neck.

Wonderful attention to detail throughout.

Paul-Edouard Delabrierre (29 March 1829 - 1912) was a French animalier sculptor born in Paris. He originally studied painting before transitioning to sculpture and finding his vocation. He displayed over 70 of his exceptional sculptures at the prestigious Salon des Arts exhibition although best known for his monumental work called L'Equitation (1857) which can still be seen on the facade of the Louvre.
