A stunning French 19th century Louis XVI st. giltwood and Fleur de Pêcher marble freestanding giltwood console. The console is raised by elegant topie shaped feet with acanthus leaf accents and finely carved block rosette reserves. The circular tapered fluted supports each display beautiful acanthus leaves, fitted carved foliate chandelles at the flutes and eternal flame like capitals. Above each leg has additional most decorative block rosettes while the beautiful pierced frieze displays a wonderfully executed interlocking ribbon design with a charming and most elegant bow at the center. Above is the original Fleur de Pêcher marble top with a mottled border.
