A high quality and most elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. Mahogany, Ormolu, and Breccia Aurora marble center table/desk, attributed to Francois Linke. This truly impressive center table is raised by elegant square tapered legs with beautiful fitted foliate Ormolu sabots, richly chased berried laurel branches, and musical instruments tied with a ribbon. Above each leg are striking pierced foliate mounts flanking the straight stepped apron. The front apron is decorated with two mottled edged panels with swaging floral garlands flanking a solid Ormolu plaque of playful winged cherubs. Both sides are designed in a similar fashion with their swaging floral garlands inside a mottled edge panel. The top edge is finely decorated with scrolling Ormolu Vitruvian pattern. The Breccia Aurora marble top is fitted within a mottled edge Mahogany frame.
