A striking and extremely elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. onyx and ormolu pedestal column. The pedestal is raised by a square base with a stepped design and decorated with a fine wrap around foliate ormolu band. The ormolu socle displays a lovely berried laurel design, while the central onyx support showcases beautiful veins. Above is a finely chased ormolu band with intricately detailed floral designs on a most decorative hammered background, with a mottled and Les Oves pattern. The square top display shelf swivels via its original hardware.
