An exquisite French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu and alabaster four arm, six light chandelier. The chandelier is centered by a charming bottom ormolu acorn finial below the striking alabaster bowl which houses two interior light bulbs offering a warm glow while showcasing the beautiful alabaster veins. The pierced ormolu rim displays a most decorative interlocking circular design from where the four arms branch out. Each arm displays beautiful scrolled movements adorned with richly chased acanthus leaves. The four lightly scrolled supports center an urn with charming top and bottom floral finials draped with lovely berried laurel garlands. The richly chased top crown displays additional acanthus leaves and fine berried laurel garlands.
