An elegant and high quality French 19th century Louis XVI st. Ormolu and Glass centerpiece. This attention grabbing centerpiece is raised by a lattice cut circular Glass pedestal supported on a dentil patterned Ormolu base with a mottled edge. Above the Glass pedestal is an Ormolu plate that supports three interlocking dolphins with their tails above their heads that are holding the Glass body. The Glass body has lattice cut designs similar to the pedestal below along with a concave mid section containing beveled patterns. The top rim of this centerpiece displays an Ormolu band with a pattern of intermittent palms creating a jagged edge. The interior showcases a centrally located sunburst reserve.
