A remarkable and most decorative French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu and patinated bronze statue. The statue is raised by an elegant stepped circular ormolu base below the circular patinated bronze central support adorned with stunning richly chased swaging blooming floral garlands tied by flowing ribbons at finely detailed rams heads. Above is a beautiful Bacchanalian maiden draped in a wonderfully executed flowing garment with grape leaves and grape clusters in her hair and castanets in her hands with a fallen water vessel and an intricately detailed playful lamb at her feet.
