A high quality and very decorative French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu keepsake box. The box is raised by most elegant topie shaped feet below the straight frieze. At the frieze is a lovely tied band below striking and intricately detailed swaging floral garlands and draped fabric, with tied ribbons set on a hammered background. The top displays a beautiful and finely chased central scene of a village with figures dancing. The central reserve is framed within fine foliate bands and corner reserves, depicting the arts with paint pallets and musical instruments with stunning floral movements at the border. The box is stamped underneath.
