A stunning a high quality French 19th century Louis XVI st. Ormolu vanity mirror. This wonderful oval beveled vanity mirror rests atop a circular stepped pedestal with a cherub sitting on a tree stump above. The cherub balances the mirror on his head by a column capital while holding his hands over his head for support. The mirror is mounted by a patinated Bronze bracket which is adjustable and attaches on both sides of mirror frame while being secured by a finely detailed topie finial. The outer edge of this exquisite mirror displays a beaded Ormolu band and a gently mottled edge. The top crown is tastefully decorated by an array of blooming flowers and acanthus leaves to display the true elegance this piece obtains.
