An elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. patinated wood cabinet vitrine. The four door two drawer Deux Corps vitrine is raised by fine tapered fluted topie shaped feet below the lovely fluted straight frieze. The two bottom doors each display recessed panels with striking diamond shaped designs with central finely carved rosettes framed within a mottled border and flanked by fluted columns. The doors open to reveal one shelf and all original hardware. The two drawers also display recessed designs centered by beautiful foliate bronze pulls and flanked by lovely carved rosettes. The two top doors retain their original hand blown glass panes also framed within a mottled border flanked by fluted columns and open to reveal three adjustable shelves and original hardware. The top crown also displays a beautiful mottled design with additional finely carved rosettes. All original patina throughout.
