A finely detailed and unique French 19th century Neo-Classical st. Ormolu, Marble and Nautilus Shell Swan centerpiece. This stunning object of virtue is raised by a circular Nero Antico marble base with a mottled edge supporting the two swan legs above. The centerpiece is in the shape of a handsome swan with it's lower body consisting of a polished Nautilus shell. The upper body is decorated with swaging floral garlands, a chest mounted cabochon, linked reigns connecting below the swan's head, and gorgeous feathered wings.

Behind the crowned swan's head and curved feathered neck are the set of hinged wings which open forward to reveal the storage space inside the shell.
