A sensational French mid 19th century Regence st. giltwood and Campan Rubané marble center table, circa 1840. The rectangular table is raised by most impressive scrolled legs with fine hoof feet, large acanthus leaves and stunning richly carved winged dragons at each corner. Each leg is joined by a most decorative stretcher with finely detailed acanthus leaves, scrolled designs and a central mottled display shelf. The apron displays wonderful foliate vitruvian scrolls with a central reserve at the front and the back of an impressive griffin set on a family crest with a royal crown, handsome lion heads and finely detailed tied berried laurel branches. Above is the original thick Campan Rubané marble top. All original gilt throughout.
