A beautiful and very high quality French early 19th century Régence st. giltwood and Rouge Jaspé marble console. The wall mounted console is raised by most elegant scrolled tapered legs adorned with richly carved acanthus leaves and most decorative garlands and interlocking designs. The legs are connected by a fine scalloped shaped stretcher with a striking central palmette design amidst scrolled movements. The apron displays a stunning lattice design centered by a richly carved reserve flanked by large finely detailed acanthus leaves. Above is the original Rouge Jaspé marble top with a fine mottled border and repeats the beautiful movement of the console below.
