A unique and most decorated pair of French 19th century Charles X st. Ormolu and Malachite lamps. Each lamp is raised by a three sided concave Ormolu base with a mottled band of dentil designs. Above the pedestal, each lamp is supported by three paw feet and legs adorned with rosettes and acanthus leaves while flanking wonderful crests with etched designs and foliate decorations. Above the beaded edged socle is a circular support decorated with acanthus leaves, arched designs, and an upper beaded edge.

The circular support serves as the base for the stunning mid section of Malachite which slightly tapers up toward the two layered top cap. The top cap of each wonderful lamp is decorated by a crown shaped ornament and a finely detailed acanthus leaf spray.
