A stunning and very high quality pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu and Biscuit de Sèvres porcelain candelabras, signed Sèvres and after a model by Lagneau. Each four arm candelabra is raised by handsome paw feet below an elegant circular base decorated with richly chased foliate and berried laurel wrap around bands centered by a charming mask. The circular supports display finely detailed designs with fitted foliate chandelles and superb grape and grape leaf wrap around bands. At the center are beautiful maidens draped in fine flowing robes and superb swaging floral garlands seemingly holding up the arms above. The arms above display superb Rinceaux shaped scrolled movements adorned with acanthus leaves leading to unique porcelain bobèches and lovely foliate candle cups. All original gilt throughout.
