An exceptional pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. pâte sur pâte porcelain and ormolu lamps. Each celadon colored lamp is raised by a striking square ormolu base with most decorative cut corners and fitted draped garland designs below richly chased wrap around tied berried laurel and mottled reeded bands. The beautifully shaped celadon colored porcelain bodies display stunning exceptionally detailed leaves and charming water flora and berries with remarkable berried laurel wreath handle at each side tied with a ribbon below curved Greek key movements leading up each side. Above the neck is the striking mottled top cap with additional foliate and reeded designs.
