A handsome and very decorative pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. Patinated Wood buffets. The pair of two door buffets are raised by front tapered fluted topie shaped feet, while at the back are rectangular block supports. The two doors have elegant square recessed mottled panels with a central square panel and cut corners decorated by rosettes. At the center and at the two outer ends of the doors are attractive fluted columns and bottom blocks with carved rosettes. The doors open to reveal an interior shelf. The sides of the buffet are designed with rectangular recessed panels. The top is finished with a wonderful faux marble finish. All original patinated finish throughout.
