A handsome and finely detailed pair of French 19th century Renaissance st. patinated Bronze lamps. Each impressive oil lamp that has been converted into electrified lamps is raised by a four pointed mottled base. Each pierced base contains four 'S' scrolled supports assisted by lion heads at the base and surrounded by scrolling designs throughout. Above is an intricately designed circular body that strategically tapers upwards. The body has an array of designs including maiden busts, rosettes within a twisted pattern, dentil patterns, palmette ornaments, and unique scrolling shapes. Atop the body of each highly detailed lamp is the mottled straight Ormolu fut leading to the two electrified lights.
