A handsome pair of Italian 17th century solid Walnut cabinets from Tuscany. Each beautiful cabinet is raised by a fine mottled base with concave sides and an open pierced decorative front. At the center is a single door with a most decorative carved recessed panel with a mottled border and an iron keyhole escutcheon to the left and a decorative iron keyhole escutcheon to the right. The door opens to reveal one shelf and original hardware. Flanking the door are concave sides also displaying fine mottled recessed panels while above is the Walnut top showcasing the beautiful warm wood grain with a fine double mottled border and a slightly raised lip at the back.
