An extremely decorative and unique pair of Italian 18th century Venetian st. Gilt Metal, patinated Wood, Wrought Iron, Glass, and Stone lanterns. Each elaborately designed one light lantern is raised on a triangular stone base with concave sides, mottled edges, and scrolled carvings on each corner.

Atop the Stone base of each lantern are three Wrought Iron scrolling decorations that support the vertical bar coming from the stone base. The patinated Wood bar has a Giltwood foliate designed central reserve and a pressed Gilt metal foliate spray at the top. Two scrolling supports with intricate foliate designs open up creating space for the lantern that hangs in the center. Each lantern has its six curved Glass windows and is centered by a pressed Gilt metal spray bottom finial below the pierced six sided base. Each of the six Glass windows are housed in pressed Gilt Metal panels with dentil patterned concave sides. Above the six Glass windows is a pierced six sided top crown with spiraling rope designs. The top crown contains foliate decorations and an inverted acanthus leaf spray at the top that matches the movements on the scrolling supports on either side.
