A striking and most decorative pair of Italian 19th century Louis XV st. patinated and giltwood armchairs. Each chair is raised by most elegant cabriole legs with fine scrolled feet and decorative giltwood filets which extend up each leg and along the arbalet shaped frieze and each side. The frieze is centered by stunning richly carved giltwood flowers flanked by scrolled foliate movements and charming intricately detailed hand painted flowers set on a patinated green background. Each uniquely shaped scrolled arm displays additional giltwood fillets and fine acanthus leaves. The beautiful scalloped shaped upholstered back supports display additional finely detailed and most colorful hand painted flowers set on patinated green backgrounds framed within giltwood borders with striking richly carved giltwood floral reserves at the tops. Each armchair is À Chassis, meaning that the seat and back are easily removable as they would have been reupholstered with the colors of each season. All original gilt and patina throughout.
