A stunning and extremely high quality true pair of French 19th century Louis XVI st. tulipwood, ormolu and exotic wood marquetry corner cabinets. Each cabinet is raised by an elegant, lightly curved base decorated with beautiful richly chased foliate ormolu bands. Superb architectural column like supports flank the central doors and display striking seashell mounts at the bases and exquisite intricately detailed seashells and foliate corner mounts above. Each door is decorated with a beautiful central marquetry design in exotic woods.

The masterfully inlaid marquetry displays elegant urns with interlocking snakes at each side. Above are finely detailed flowers and leaves set on maple wood backgrounds and are framed within mottled and foliate ormolu bands. Each cabinet showcases a single drawer centered by an impressive seashell mount amidst rich leaves and flanked by recessed parquetry panels framed in elegant ormolu fillets. Above are the beautiful butterfly veneered tops with handsome gadroon ormolu galleries.
