A charming French 18th century Louis XV period painted side table. The beautiful table is raised by elegant tapered cabriole legs decorated with fine painted fillets which leads up each leg and along the most decorative scalloped shaped apron. The apron is decorated with charming finely detailed hand painted floral designs while each side displays a single drawer with richly chased pierced foliate ormolu handles and additional lovely floral designs. The top displays a most charming and wonderfully executed central hand painted woven basket with a beautiful luxuriant array of flowers, one lovebird at the center and another flying above and holding the basket in its talons. At the border is a fine foliate gold tooled band with finely detailed foliate and Fleur de Lys designs at the corners. All original patina throughout.
