A stunning and very high quality English Louis XVI st. 19th century silvered bronze and Waterford crystal twelve light chandelier. The chandelier with a bottom dome with octagon shaped cut crystal garlands lead to a central band of crystal palmettes. The palmettes hold additional draping garlands with crystal bells. Above are strands of rectangular and octagon shaped crystals below a top cut upside down bowl with hanging prisms. At the top is the cut crystal ball decorated by spears pointing outward supporting additional swaging garlands and smaller sized bells. The silvered bronze interior frame has three different levels of light.
