An impressive Italian 18th century Baroque st. Giltwood and Alabastro Rosso marble console. This most exceptional freestanding console is raised by a trio of carved acanthus leaf feet below a stretcher decorated with foliate and palmette reserves. From the stretcher rise three richly sculpted pierced scrolling foliate Giltwood legs leading to an apron of repeating palmette reserves. Supported by the apron is a veneered and bookmatched Alabastro Rosso marble top with an eased edge, carved to follow the contours of the Giltwood base.
