An impressive and most decorative Italian late 18th century Baroque st. ebony, rosewood, tortoiseshell, and bone cabinet vitrine. The vitrine is raised by elegant turned feet below block reserves and striking most decorative spiraled legs, each connected by a lovely stretcher. The door above retains its original glass pane framed within beautiful masterfully inlaid tortoiseshell reserves with fine bone inlaid fillets. The single central door opens to reveal two shelves and its original hardware. Each side also retains their original glass panes framed within the same striking geometric inlaid tortoiseshell reserves and bone inlaid fillets. Above is a charming and most decorative baluster designed top crown.
