A stunning and most unique Italian 19th century Louis XVI st. Glass, Opaline Glass, Crystal, and gilt Metal chandelier. This sixteen arm sixteen light chandelier is centered by a solid Crystal sphere bottom finial below a circular mottled edged base of the bottom tier with a foliate designed rim. Each arm is adorned with cylindrical Crystals which follow the contours of the arms.

The bottom tier displays scrolling arms with eight lights and hanging scalloped, tear drop, rosette, and prism cut Crystals. The lower tier also has arms with gilt Metal sprays with a dagger atop and exquisite spheres of bold aqua Opaline glass below. Separating the bottom and mid level is a diamond cut Crystal sphere that supports the base of the middle tier. The middle tier showcases additional scrolling arms with similar decorations and the remaining eight lights which are displayed slightly higher, giving the chandelier a larger spectrum of light. The center of the second tier showcases a beautiful mottled dagger pointing up toward the top crown.

Leading up to the top crown are gilt Metal bands with central reserves of additional spheres of bold aqua colored Opaline glass with glass ovals placed above. The top crown is supported by a circular mottled base that introduces a gilt Metal spray with hanging tear drop pendants centered by a diamond cut Crystal sphere.
