A beautiful and most impressive Italian 19th century Venetian st. giltwood and Brocatelle Jaune du Jura marble console and matching mirror. The wall mounted console is raised by two elegant cabriole legs with wonderful scrolled foliate designs each connected by a beautiful richly carved pierced foliate stretcher. Above each leg are lovely foliate gadroon like designs flanking the scalloped apron centered by a pierced central reserve of finely detailed acanthus leaves and additional beautiful scrolled foliate designs. The top displays its original Brocatelle Jaune du Jura marble top fitted within a fine mottled border. The mirror above retains its original mirror plate framed within a beautiful wrap around mottled border and raised by a straight base with beautiful scrolled foliate movements. Striking richly carved blooming flowers extend up each side leading to remarkable scrolled foliate reserves and additional intricately detailed blooming flowers centering the impressive family crest with etched initials seemingly held by charming wonderfully executed cherubs. The mirror displays a unique additional removable family crest likely created by a different family in order to customize the piece while retaining its original integrity. A customized plaque can also be created. All original gilt throughout.
