An exceptional and very unique Italian early 18th century Louis XIV period ebonized Fruitwood, bone, giltwood, and gilt metal specimen cabinet. The three door thirteen drawer cabinet is raised by an elegant mottled giltwood band with a most decorative wave like design. At the center are two doors decorated with elegant giltwood fillets and a fine pierced gilt metal keyhole escutcheon, and which open to reveal the finished interior, original hardware, and twelve remarkable drawers. Each drawer displays a beautiful wave like gilt wood border and circular gilt metal pulls while the central drawer displays an exceptionally fitted bone plaque with finely detailed scenes. The central drawer pulls out to give access to a hidden secret drawer at the back. Each side panel displays a gilt metal handle while the mottled stepped top displays a horizontal door that opens upwards and can also be locked. All original gilt throughout.
