A very handsome Italian early 18th century Louis XIV period walnut commode, from the Piedmont region. This two door and two drawer commode is raised on an ebonized fruitwood moulded frieze and bun feet. The doors and drawers are trimmed with ebonized fruitwood and decorated with fruitwood marquetry of cloves amidst scrolled and foliate designs. Bronze pulls and keyhole escutcheons enhance the façade with cut corners decorated with floral garlands. At each side is a lovely urn with floral bouquet amidst geometric borders and Fleur de Lis. The decorative design is repeated at the top with an ebonized fruitwood molded edge border. All original rich patina throughout.
