A handsome French early 19th century Empire st. mahogany, ormolu and Noir Antique marble center table. The table is raised by fine ormolu bun feet with their original concealed casters below an elegant triangular shaped stretcher with most decorative concave sides. The three lightly tapered column supports display ormolu plinths and capitals with finely chased designs. Above the circular apron with raised mahogany stations above each leg is the original Noir Antique marble top with a superb mottled raised border. All original gilt throughout.
