A stunning French 19th century Louis XVI st. Sarreguemines porcelain and ormolu centerpiece. The centerpiece bowl is raised by a richly chased circular ormolu base with four handsome block feet with pierced rosettes and a berried laurel band. The socle pedestal displays a Les Oves pattern and a lightly fluted pattern. The beautifully shaped porcelain body is flanked by Greek key designed handles, with berried acorn finials, centered by rosettes and joined by laurel garlands tied by a bow. A finely chased band decorates the neck and is finished by twisted rope styles trim.
