A remarkable and most charming French 19th century Louis XVI st. ormolu, patinated bronze, and Rose Vif des Pyrénées marble centerpiece. The centerpiece is raised by an elegant circular Rose Vif des Pyrénées marble base with a fine stepped mottled border. At the center are two charming richly chased patinated bronze cherubs with a quiver and lions head at their sides seemingly holding up the bowl above. The ormolu bowl displays beautiful intricately detailed scenes of cherubs playing with flowers and reading set on a hammered background and below a wrap around vine. Impressive rams heads and acanthus leaves lead up each side while the top rim displays a decorative wrap around band.
