A charming and very elegant French mid 19th Century patinated bronze statue of a cherub, after Charles Gabriel Lemire. The statue is raised by a rectangular Rouge Griotte marble base with a concave top mottled border. Above is a sweet winged cherub, sitting on a rock, one hand on his bow and the other holding the string, attempting to put it on the bow. Wonderful and all original patina throughout.

Charles Gabriel Lemire (1741-1837) Renowned French sculpt of the late 18th century.
