A very elegant French Louis XVI st. mid 19th century rectangular giltwood and Brèche d'Alep marble center table. The table is raised by four impressive circular fluted tapered legs ending with a topie shaped sabot and a band of cabochons below rosettes. Within the flutes are decorative and richly carved chandelles. The top of each leg has a circular acanthus leaf design while the frieze has fluted panels within a mottled border, all below an egg and dart top band. The original thick Brèche d'Alep marble top follows the contours of the base.
