A handsome and most elegant French 19th century Louis XVI st. cherry wood and Sarrancolin marble buffet, signed A. Blanqui Marseille. The two door and two drawer buffet is raised by a straight mottled base below two impressive doors. Each door displays richly carved recessed panels with corner rosettes and a central oval shape draped in finely detailed berried laurel leaves tied with a charming ribbon. The doors are separated by a fine fluted column and open to reveal one adjustable shelf and the original hardware. To each side are elegant carved flowers also tied with a bow while the sides of the buffet display fine recessed panels. The frieze displays two drawers each flanked by finely carved rosettes. Above is the original thick Sarrancolin marble top with a mottled border. Beautiful warm patina throughout.
