A sensational and most unique Italian 18th century giltwood and faux painted marble freestanding console, from Tuscany. The console is raised by a striking wonderfully executed base with a brick like design and a fine mottled border. At the center is a majestic carved Fleur de Lys reserve behind which the charming and richly carved putti stands with his hands up proudly supporting the top. The finely detailed putti is draped in a swaging garment and is standing amidst grapevines and leaves. Above is the beautiful scalloped shaped faux painted marble top with a most decorative Entrelacs et Rosaces carved giltwood border. All original gilt and patina throughout.
